

Artelia strengthens its foothold in Europe with the acquisition of Italian firm Erregi, specialists in infrastructure and mobility

The international group Artelia announces the acquisition of 100% of the Italian company Erregi, a recognised player in the urban and interurban mobility infrastructure sectors. Artelia thus consolidates its presence in Europe, where it ranks among the Top 10 construction engineering firms.

With nearly 40 years of experience and over 30 staff based in Rome, Erregi provides specialist consultancy services in transport and mobility infrastructure, covering road, rail, tram, metro, and airport projects. Recognised for its ability to manage complex, multidisciplinary projects, the company also acts as a systems integrator thanks to its strong technical expertise. It has already collaborated in close synergy with Artelia on several tenders and projects.

Notable projects for which Erregi's teams have been commissioned include the Riyadh–Jubail railway link, Riyadh Metro Line 3, the development of a new town model with strong environmental integration on Antigua Island, and the A, B, and C lines of the Rome Metro.

Gabriele Scicolone, Managing Director of Artelia Italy, comments: "The acquisition of Erregi marks a pivotal step in further expanding our infrastructure activities. It allows us to broaden our skillset and contribute with strong determination to the sustainable development of regions. We are delighted to welcome a highly valued team that will provide real impetus to our growth trajectory."

Giovanni Zallocco, Managing Director of Erregi, adds: "Joining Artelia represents an exceptional opportunity for Erregi to showcase our expertise, while ensuring continuity in the national and international flagship projects we have delivered over recent decades. We share Artelia's strategic vision and commitment to quality and sustainability."
